▲ Tehran attractions: at a glance Districts 1 - 3

As a metropolitan which has been the capital of Iran for over 200 years, Tehran offers loads of tourist attractions in every corner of the city. From the past to the present, the district one of Tehran also called Shemiran, has been well-known for its pleasant climate and a great deal of natural beauty. Major tourist attractions in this region include Niavaran cultural center, Sa'ad Abad Complex, Niavaran Palace, Darband, Darake, Tochal, and Jamshidie Park. Just like district One, district two has a high potential for living, amenities, and luxury houses. Milad Tower, Tehran Jurassic Park, Pardisan, and Parvaz Parks and also several beautiful gardens are the attractions. Tehran's third district also embraced important attractions such as Mellat Park; the cultural areas include Arasbaran Cultural Center, Allameh Amini Library, and Water Museum Garden located on Yakhchal Street.

If you are interested in mountain hiking, you will have a fun time hiking the mountains in the north of Tehran, do not forget to try delicious fruits, juice, and snacks here. There are also outstanding restaurants in the north of Tehran, you can try original Iranian food.
